Last Week's Games

A Grade:

A grade played University last week - hoping to have a win and move up the ladder to second spot. Unfortunately that didn't happen, and with Dragons winning their game, our team is now in fourth spot going into the finals which start next week. Whatever happens on Saturday, A grade will be playing Dragons again next week in the minor semi-finals.

University had a mountain of possession in the first half and scored two tries. The Crocs were solid in defence, and a penalty by Alex Davidson put the Crocs on the scoreboard. At half time, the score was 10-3 to University.

University scored another try in the second half, and were awarded a penalty try as well.

Anthony (Chicken Wing) Smith and Brad Hunt scored in the second half for the Crocs and Alex Davidson converted one try. Good to see Tommy Hurse back after injury making his usual impact on the game.

Final score was :

University 37 Palmerston 15.

B grade:

The Armchair Critic seems to have vanished into the sunset in the last few weeks - maybe it is old age!! So has his offside by the look of things - the silence is deafening!!

From a spectator's point of view, B grade started their game against University behind the eight-ball with 15 players and no reserves. Thanks should go to Justin Walker and Timmy Timato who played a full game, then backed up again to sit on the bench and then play for A Grade - something they have both done regularly all season.

Final Score was:

University 30 Palmerston 20. Try Scorers not available.

It was good to see so many Crocs' supporters at the game - many backing up after Dennis Bree's party. Some of the "old school" there remembered referee Michael Tutty from many years ago, and gave him the usual banter throughout the game.

Wonder if he remembered Squirter's comments at a 'do' after a home game all those years ago - "You're not the worst referee in the world, Tutty, but you'd certainly make the Grand Final!" He took it all in good humour.
